

Jeff Slepín, MD, MBA, FACEP

Executive VP, EmCare Physician Services, Pensacola, FL

Dr. Jeff Slepín joined EmCare in 2003 as the first Regional Medical Director for EmCare Physician Services (E.P.S.), the EmCare division which manages rural, community and other lower volume hospitals and medical centers. His strong clinical background in emergency department (E.D.) management, along with extensive experience in practice management and health care consulting, position him to effectively deliver expertise and leadership that help EmCare partner hospitals achieve desired results. Dr. Slepín provides leadership through education, mentoring and coaching to EmCare site medical directors and practicing staff physicians in both emergency and hospital medicine. He has been instrumental in the development of CompleteCare™, EmCare's innovative solution for providing E.D. and inpatient services in community and rural hospitals. Dr. Slepín is the Medical Director of NorthStar First Response, a Virginia-based company that provides basic and advanced life support training, as well as public access defibrillation programs for private and public entities. In addition, Dr. Slepín has served as a peer reviewer in emergency medicine for the Agency for Health Care Administration in the state of Florida.
